Calling for Photographs

To Port Wakefield & District Residents,
Do you have photographs of any of your family who served in World War I, 1914-1918, in any of the services, in any capacity. Salt of the Earth Gallery is holding a display commemorating 100yrs 'Recognising the A.N.Z.A.C.S' on Anzac Day, Saturday 25th April 2015, honouring them once again publically for the weekend. If you would be kind enough to loan them & share your history we thank you.

Lest We Forget

A photo copy of or replica photo with their service record information will be acceptable. We will record your items and receipt them. Delivery to Salt of the Earth Cafe by Thurs 23rd April 2015 please.

Pat's Giant Pumpkin

Pat Van Der Sman proudly shows her giant pumpkin. Weighing approx. 25kg it was Pat's first attempt at growing the giants.

Thank You

I would like to say a big Thank You to all who visited me while I was in hospital and at home. Also thank you for all the beautiful flowers, phone calls and messages. A big thank you to Liddy for her well needed advice and help. Also Nancy for her phone calls and advice. A big thank you to my wonderful "slave" Kim for her help when I came home. Last of all Thank You Trevor for putting up with me and your help.

Council News.

Information from Wakefield Regional Council Newsletter December 2014

Septic Tanks and Wastewater Systems.

Council manages a range of systems with differing characteristics. The Vacuum System in Port Wakefield is an important system which can be damaged if the wrong things are put down it.

This year we had 11 pairs of men's underpants flushed down the toilets in addition to rags, socks and mop heads. Please do not put these in the system as it becomes blocked.

We also provide good public toilets across the Council areas which are maintained weekly.

Did you know that we supplied 263 kilometres of toilet paper and used 6200 litres of disinfectant! That's a lot of cleaning.

also

Port Wakefield Heritage/Informative Signs.

The Heritage/Informative Signs for Port Wakefield are currently being manufactured after some time researching the information. It is anticipated these signs will be progressively installed over the coming six months.

Losing the Ambulance in Port Wakefield

Hi! I am writing this letter as I am upset about the position of our ambulance in Port Wakefield. It may be that it will be taken from our town if we do not get more volunteers. This is due to the wise thinking S.A. Ambulance (another Government money saving project).

This will mean that without these valuable people, in case of an accident it would mean waiting for anything up to 1 – 1 1/2 hours till an ambulance came from another town.

TIME IS IMPORTANT but more IMPORTANT ARE PEOPLES LIVES and this could be YOU.

If you are interested in keeping our ambulance in use on this busy busy highway, for goodness sake ACT NOW.

Seek out the ambo volunteers and find out what you can do to help – (however small the job is) to swell the number of volunteers and keep our ambulance here.

After all this is YOUR ambulance and YOUR town.

Someone will be available to answer your call on 0429 671 469

All Welcome

Newsletter Toilet Project

The new toilet building is progressing well now.

Although looking very bright at the moment, the galvanised cladding will fade over time. This cladding was used as it fits the guidelines for Heritage Buildings. The doorway from old to new building has been opened and makes the foyer look so much bigger. Gameau Builders are undertaking the construction. The electrician, Craig Goldney has wired the extension and Gary Rapko will install the internal linings next week. Funding for this project was provided by Community Benefit SA Grant, Donations from Port Wakefield Community members and the Newsletter Committee.

The new kitchen is almost complete. It is anticipated that the appliances and plumbing will be completed shortly. Funding for this project was provided by Wakefield Regional Council Grant and the Newsletter Committee.

To remove burned on grease from BBQ or oven trays.

- To a black plastic garbage bag add ½ cup of Cloudy Ammonia
- Place greasy trays in the garbage bag and seal with a tie tightly
- Leave either overnight or for a couple of hours (preferably in sun)
- Wearing protective gloves, remove from the bag and wash with hot soapy water.

The grease comes off very easily! If it is VERY bad you may have to do it again.

Port Wakefield Uniting Church World Day of Prayer

Port Wakefield Uniting Church World Day of Prayer will be held on Friday March 6th at 11 am with a pooled lunch to follow.

This service has been written by the women of the Bahamas titled, "Do you know what I have done to you". Come to learn about life for these people in a service prepared by their women. The theme of this service asks us to reflect on our Christian role of service and offering care and kindness to everyone.

This service is open to all, so come and join with us. We have a surprise guest speaker, so we look forward to sharing with you all.

We hope to see you on Friday March 6th at 11 am.

The Port Wakefield Community Newsletter urgently requires typists to assist with typing the newsletter each fortnight.

It's not so difficult, it just takes time.

If you can type or are willing to learn we can offer tuition and assistance.

We carry out much of the task on Tuesdays during computing sessions but the newsletter committee has a laptop which allows work to be carried out at your home.

Portrait of a Whistle-blower
Balaklava Courthouse Gallery
12th February-22nd March 2015
Adelaide Fringe Festival

Portrait of a Whistle-blower is recognition and celebration of the significant role Avon Hudson has played in South Australia's unfolding atomic history. His life as an activist seems to belong to the present, as the future of nuclear science and technology is considered anew.

The Story of nuclear testing is unknown to most Australians. Between 1952 and 1963, after a decision made by Prime Minister Menzies alone, nine atomic bombs were exploded and hundreds of 'minor' experiments were conducted at the British-run testing ranges at Emu and Maralinga in South Australia. Three bombs were also exploded at Monte Bello Islands in Western Australia.

The impacts of these experiments continue to play out in the health and change lives of both Aboriginal and non-aboriginal communities.

Due to the secrecy by the Government surrounding these atomic bomb testings Avon Hudson with the knowledge and what he knew became a "Whistle-blower." Since the 1970s Avon has campaigned for the recognition of nuclear veterans and civilian personnel. This led to the establishment of the Royal Commission into the British Nuclear Tests in Australia (1984-85).

The exhibition chronicles Avon Hudson's life, from early years growing up in regional South Australia, to service in the Royal Australian Air Force as a leading Aircraftman, through the experience of British atomic bomb tests to his "Whistle-blower" act of revealing Maralinga's deadly legacy.

Birds of the Port Wakefield Area

from a book of the same name by Paul Taylor and Wikipedia

Dusky Woodswallow Artamus cyanopterus

The Dusky Woodswallow has a prominent white stripe on its wing.

Fairly common. Usually in pairs or small flocks, inhabiting open spaces and mallee scrubs. Unlike the other woodswallows, the Dusky can be seen locally all year round.

The dusky woodswallow is medium sized and swallow-like with a dark brown hue, but there have been instances where the bird has appeared grey. The birds have a black patch in front of their eyes, and grey (sometimes also black) wings with white streaks on them. The dusky woodswallow has a black, white-tipped tail with a silver underwing. The birds have a blue-grey bill capped with black. Dusky woodswallows are known to spontaneously 'wag' or swivel their tails fervently, a trait which is common among many other species of woodswallow.

The diet of the bird can be varied. They eat various forms of foliage and other grassy material that they find on the ground or in trees and shrubs. Dusky woodswallows have been seen eating termites, butterflies and other insects. They also eat nectar from flowers. One notable aspect of their feeding habits is the way they hunt flying insects, which is done by picking them up on their wing. They do, however, also eat their prey from the ground, and they often find inconspicuous places to perch while waiting for prey, such as utility lines and the like. They have also been observed engaging in kleptoparasitism, working as a group to rob a restless flycatcher of its prey. Kleptoparasitism is extremely unusual in passerine birds, as is cooperative kleptoparasitism in general.

Medical matters: A gorgeous young red head goes into the Doctor's surgery and says her body hurts wherever she touches it.

"Impossible." Said the Doctor. "Show me"

The redhead takes her finger, pushes on her left breast and screams, she pushes her elbow and screams. She pushes her knee even in more agony.

Every where she touches she screams.

The doctor says "You're not really a redhead are you?"

"Well no she says" "I'm really a blonde"

"Thought so." Says the Doctor, "Your finger is broken."

Sunday smiles: During the holidays I was out for an evening with friends and had several cocktails followed by some red wine. Feeling jolly, that's when I did something I've never done before – I took a cab home. Sure enough, on the way home there was a road block, but since it was a cab they waved it past. I arrived home safely without incident. It was a real surprise as I had never driven a cab before. I don't know where I got it and now that it's in my garage I don't know what to do with it.
